CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer. If any dispute arise the Auctioneer shall have absolute discretion to settle it; and to put any disputed lot up again.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All Lots are put up for sale subject (a) to any reserve price imposed by the Seller and (b) to the right of the Seller either to bid personally or else by any one person who may be the Auctioneer.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and, if required, to pay down 10s. in the pound in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged, or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If at the expiration of one week after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are received back within Fourteen Days after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm holes, stained, or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. are prepared to advise intending purchasers, as far as possible, and will execute bids on their behalf, free of charge. Lots will be procured as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves, if any.

40. 158D ALCHEMY AND ASTROLOGY. MISCELLANEA ALCHYMICA ET ASTROLOGICA, MANUSCRIPT ON PAPER, written in a cursive book hand (several scribes) on 104 ll. with a celestial map, alchemical drawings, the Signs of the Zodiac and astronomical diagrams. original binding of blind-stamped calf over wooden boards, metal corner-pieces (binding a little wormed). Inside the front cover a movable disc with astronomical diagram in red and black; rebounded folio (11 in. by 8½ in.) ITALIAN, XV CENT.

** This interesting Manuscript contains a large number of single texts, mostly of an alchemical and astrological nature, with references to medicine, economics, etc. There are many additions, annotations and changes of text. The leaves 72 to 84, originally left blank, contain numerous additions written in the latter part of the 16th Century. Probably the same hand has cancelled certain parts of the MS. by crossing out, but in practically all instances they remain easily legible.

folio (10 $\frac{9}{16}$  in. by 7 $\frac{3}{8}$  in.) XIV CENT.

** The author of this work, calculated for Toledo and enriched by explanations, is supposed to be the Arabian astronomer El-Zarcali (11th Century). Gerhardus of Cremona was probably the translator. It contains tables for the calculation of years, tables of the celestial movements, eclipses, an index of fixed stars with their Arabic names, an index for 67 countries and towns with indications of longitude and latitude, etc. It includes also the "Tabula elevationum signorum ad latitudinem civitatis Cremonae," undoubtedly due to Gerhardus, and found only in a few manuscripts. THE WORK APPEARS TO BE UNPUBLISHED.

** The cancel leaf, R 4, tipped on to p. 265 with the list of King James' works in larger type.

Dr. Thomas James, librarian of Oxford University, was the first scientific English bibliographer and this is the first alphabetical catalogue of any library to be printed. His remarks on cataloguing, in the introduction, are important in the history of the subject. 1/1/-

The 1620 edition of the Catalogue originally included an appendix of 36 pages, of which only three copies are known (B.M., Bodl. and U.L.C.). The Huntington Library copy lacks the appendix altogether. In the enlarged 1635 edition the titles of English works are printed in black letter, and many works of Elizabethan poets and dramatists are included, among them the first folio of Shakespeare.

** THIS EXCEPTIONALLY LARGE COPY IN ORIGINAL BINDING AND WITH THE BLANK LEAF A 1 before the portrait; traditionally belonged to Lewis Stucley, chaplain to Oliver Cromwell (d. 1687), and is from the Library at Hartland Abbey, to which it was removed by the present owner's grandfather, Sir George Stucley Buck (afterwards Stucley) of Affeton about 1845. Sir George was fifth in direct descent from George Buck, the husband of Sarah Stucley of Affeton, sister and heir of chaplain Lewis Stucley. The marginal notes and memoranda on the end papers, etc. may be in the hand of the latter.
This copy is slightly larger than the Clawson-Kern, which was described as "probably the finest in existence." Except at one portion of the fore-edge, the margins of the portrait extend beyond the platemark.

A FINE SERIES OF EARLY LETTERS

OF THE GREATEST INTEREST FROM CHARLES DICKENS TO SIR JOHN EASTHOPE, EDITOR OF THE "MORNING CHRONICLE," FOR WHOM DICKENS WAS AT THAT TIME (1836) WORKING.

- 436 DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, 15, Furnival's Inn, Thursday Morning [5th May, 1836], to John Easthope, Esq. A FINE LETTER (with Easthope's draft reply), hoping that nothing he had written in a previous letter had annoyed his employer :

I cannot forbear writing to you, to express my hope that there was nothing in the note I wrote to you before the Easter recess, on the subject of my sketches, which displeased you . . . Begging to assure you once more, that I shall be most happy to meet your wishes in any way.

- DICKENS (C.) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, to the same, Furnival's-inn, Tuesday Evening [1836], complaining of the pirating of his articles by "Bells Life" and by "The Carlton Chronicle," and asking Mr. Easthope to remonstrate with the proprietors on his behalf, and continuing :

I have another motive in writing to you, which is to explain why No. 5 has not yet appeared. I have been labouring under one of those severe colds which brings with them a state of semi-stupefaction, and have been wholly unable to set pen to paper for some days past.

- DICKENS (C.) A. L. s. to the same, 15, Furnival's Inn, Sat. Nov. 5th [1836], 1½ pp. 4to, A FINE LETTER :

Informing the Morning Chronicle that he has found less burdensome and more profitable employment. "Between this time and the period at which my notice will expire, I shall take care to make the number of sketches bear the proper proportion to the amount I have received."

- DICKENS (C.) A. L. s. 3½ pp. 4to, 15, Furnival's Inn, Friday Morning [Nov. 19th 1836], with Easthope's draft reply, A MAGNIFICENT LETTER :

Explaining why he absented himself from the office, and referring to the sketches he was writing for the Morning Chronicle; resenting the editor's suggestion that he had forgotten he was to supply a weekly sketch; the last two pages of the letter summarize Dickens' work for the Morning Chronicle and express very forcibly his opinion of the shabby treatment meted out to him by the proprietors: ". . . I did expect on leaving, to receive some slight written acknowledgment from the Proprietors of the Morning Chronicle of the sense they entertained for the services I had performed . . . During the whole period of my engagement wherever there was a difficult and harassing duty to be performed—travelling at a few hours' notice hundreds of miles in the depth of winter—leaving hot and crowded rooms to write, the whole night through, in a close damp chaise—tearing along, and writing the most important speeches under every possible circumstance of disadvantage and difficulty—for that duty have I been selected . . . I am happy to say that I can afford to part with the thanks of the proprietors, although I feel much hurt, and much surprised at the conduct they think proper to pursue towards me.

Depend upon it, sir, that if you would stimulate those about you to any exertions beyond their ordinary routine of duty, and gather round you competent successors to the young men whom you will constantly find quitting a most arduous and thankless profession, as other prospects dawn upon them, this is not the way to do it."

** It would be difficult to find a more deeply interesting letter, marking as this does, with strong emotion, the most important moment of Dickens' life, that at which he turned definitely to literature as a profession.

DICKENS (C.) Two A. L. s. each 2 pp. 8vo, to Sir John Easthope, with whom Dickens was now on friendly terms, both 1, Devonshire Terrace, February Fifteenth, 1844 :

I am exceedingly sorry not to have been able to answer your note when your servant was here. But I was much engaged with visitors too deep; and lived in hopes of their business being brief—which it was not.

From the collection of M. R. Dawkins, Esq. grandson of Sir John Easthope; and believed to be unpublished. Mounted and bound with an introduction, red morocco gilt, inside gilt borders, silk end-papers, g. e. 4to

441 DICKENS (C.) FINE A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Newcastle-on-Tyne, twenty-fifth September, 1858, to James B. Manson (editor of The Northern Daily Express), with reference to an article "Literature and Charles Dickens," written and published by Manson on the same date :

Your note has touched me to the heart. I deeply feel and shall always remember its sincerity, modesty and manliness. It makes what you have written of me, of new worth to me; and I can truly say, in thanking you, I am proud of it.

The view you take of the literary character in the abstract, or of what it might or ought to be, expresses what I have striven for all through my literary life. I have never allowed it to be patronized, or tolerated, or treated like a good child or a bad child, etc.

THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, 3, George St. East [Edinburgh], Wednesday, to the same, with reference to an article "Mr. Thackeray," published Feb. 24th, 1857 :

Thank you for your paper, the opinion of wh. I must not criticise as I ~~make~~ have made a rule & kept it pretty faithfully never to ask for a newspaper notice, nor to thank the critic who writes in my favor, nor to quarrel with him who charges against me, etc.

Laid in and bound together, with an introduction and transcript of the letters and of the newspaper articles, green morocco gilt, g. e. in a cloth case 4to

** An extremely interesting pair of unpublished letters, vividly contrasting the very different temperaments of the two great novelists at the height of their public reputation.

- 443 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, n. d. to Mrs. Montgomery, in the upright hand:

I called on Sunday to see if I might thank the giver of the (beautiful) roses, but the house was shut up & I did not dare even to knock. I should like to come of all things to dinner, but I mustn't dine so late as 8 o'clock, etc.

GRAND-DAUGHTER OF FIELD-MARSHAL SIR JOHN FOX BURGoyNE.

- 445 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s.  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pp. 8vo, 36, Onslow Sq. S.W. Jan. 6, 1860, to General (afterwards Field-Marshal) Sir John Fox Burgoyne, thanking him for a contribution to the Cornhill Magazine:

The article has been of the greatest service to us: what I liked best in it was the kindness & friendliness of the writer who gave us his good will his good name & his help at the outset of our venture . . . I think I needn't tell you the magazine has been an immense success, such a sale has never been known in England before, etc.

- 446 HOWE (General Sir William) Secret Despatch, New York, July 17, 1777, on two strips of paper about 17 in. by  $\frac{3}{8}$  in. (one incomplete, lacking probably three words) to General John Burgoyne, who was then engaged on his disastrous advance to Saratoga; the tradition is that this despatch was rolled up in a quill and carried by an Indian

I have received yours of the 2nd inst on the 15th, have since heard from the Rebel Army of your being in possession of Ticouderoga [captured on July 6], which is a great event carried without loss . . . There is a Report of a Messenger of yours to me having been taken, & the letter discover'd in a double wooden Canteen . . . Washington is waiting our motions here, & has detached Sullivan with about 2500 men, as I learn, to Albany—My intention is for Pensilvania where I expect to meet Washington, but if he goes to the Northwd, . . . & you can keep him at Bay, be assured I shall soon be after him to relieve you . . . my wishes are that the Enemy be drove out of this Province before any operation takes place in Connecticut . . . Success be ever with you

On Oct. 17 Burgoyne surrendered at Saratoga.

- 502 WELLS (H. G.) The original material that went to the making of THE AUTOCRACY OF MR. PARHAM, about 412 pp. 4to, of Auto. MS. and about 460 pp. 4to of typescript, many of the latter with elaborate auto. notes and corrections, in six portfolios (6)

** This is believed to be the only original MS. of a novel by H. G. Wells that has ever been offered for sale: in an auto prefatory note the author says:

The original MS. is included but under modern conditions many writers do not produce a continuous original MS. They sketch out suggestions, have them typed & work upon successive typescripts. All such second & third phase typescript-manuscript passages are here. In addition you have here the notes & suggestions made chiefly on the pages of a loose leaf note book, before the story took shape, embryonic phases of the idea.

The Property of Algernon Gissing, Esq.

- 503 GISSING (George) An important series of 38 A. L. s. to his brother Algernon Gissing, and two A. L. s. to Mrs. Algernon Gissing (mostly initials), they cover a period from 1878-1903, speaking of "Workers in the Dawn" he says:

I fear the book is having no sale at all. Yet you will see it will have, some day. Says "The Spectator" was unjust in many respects, "most outrageously so however, in saying that, in describing the life of the well-to-do people I was describing something I had never seen. All the reviewers take me for a working man, I fancy, tho' a careful reading of my book would show such a supposition to be grossly absurd. Why it is the other kind of life that I have had to make a study of, the low, not the middle-class life . . . They are willing enough to admit that I have drawn blackguards well, when those blackguards are of the poor classes; the existence of blackguards elsewhere they won't recognize. O Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites!

Without doubt you will get through much work this winter, so shall I—if I do not come to starvation first.

I am by degrees getting a certain confidence in myself, and beginning to find my right place in the World . . . My attitude henceforth is that of the Artist, pure and simple.

To night I finish "Isabel Clarendon" I have done my utmost to make the story as realistic as possible . . . if I had not promised it to Chapman. I should try Macmillan. Yesterday I wrote for nine hours.

writing from Florence in January 1889, he gives an interesting account of the City and expresses his astonishment at the low cost of living tempting him to settle there for a time. Speaking of "The Emancipated" he says the book will doubtless give a good deal of offence to the puritans of to-day. Shall have finished "The Nether World" in ten days. High time something was finished

Writing in 1897 from Burleigh Salterton he speaks of a visit to London:

Very few indeed of our old landmarks are left. London has changed indescribably since the days when I started & wandered about the streets in 1877, that, indeed was just the end of an epoch. It was then still the London of Dickens, now Dickens would lose his way anywhere except in a few main thoroughfares. In May in 1897 he writes: Happily, we have sold 2,000 copies of "The Whirlpool" & a 2nd Edit. is ready. But think, this only means £100 to me & I have already had £150 on account. However no such sale has been known to me hitherto.

I am trying to prepare for my little book on Dickens (to be done by Xmas) but can only get an hour of reading at bedtime . . . I shall write my Dickens book at Florence.

In September 1895 he describes in detail a week-end spent with Thomas Hardy.

The last letter of this intimate series is from Florence three months before his death, and reports that he is in the middle of a historical story "Veranilda"

** A SERIES OF THE GREATEST POSSIBLE INTEREST COVERING A VERY LARGE PORTION OF HIS LITERARY LIFE AND WORK.

- 504 KEATS (John) Water-Colour Sketch,  $2\frac{3}{8}$  in. by  $3\frac{1}{8}$  in. of sea and hills, mounted on greyish blue with the words "by John Keats" written below by Joseph Severn; with carefully finished pencil drawing of Keats by Severn; two water-colour sketches, etc. (5)

- 505 [KEATS (John)] Brown (Charles Armitage) intimate friend and sometime housemate of Keats. A. L. s. three full pp. 4to, to him at Rome, Dec. 21, 1820

** A most remarkable letter, believed to be quite unknown hitherto and throwing a new light on the character of Keats. It begins by regretting that the writer cannot afford to join Keats in Rome:

Unless it were a matter of necessity, & I see none while you are in such good hands as Severn's . . . Thank God, you are getting better! . . . Keep your mind easy, my dear fellow, & no fear of your body . . . I understand your poems increase in sale, etc proceeds to give news of various friends, and an account of the attack by John Scott, editor of the "London Magazine," on Blackwood's, which led shortly afterwards to the duel in which Scott was killed. Then Brown describes his own domestic arrangements, which were unconventional, and call up a strange vision of the morals prevailing in the joint abode of Brown and Keats. Further gossip follows and Keats is chidden for arguing himself into fits of the spleen:

If I were in Severn's place, & you insisted on even gnawing a bone, I'd lead you the life of a dog. What the devil should you grumble for? Do you recollect my anagram on your name?—how pat it comes now to Severn!—my love to him & the said anagram—Thanks Joe! etc.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT MANUSCRIPTS, ETC.

WILLIAM WORDSWORTH,
DOROTHY WORDSWORTH,
SARAH AND MARY HUTCHINSON

being the copy from which were printed

LYRICAL BALLADS, VOL. II, 1800,
LYRICAL BALLADS, 1802,
AND W. WORDSWORTH, POEMS, 1807,

The Property of R. G. Longman, Esq.

All these Manuscripts were described by W. Hall White ("Mark Rutherford") in 1897 for T. N. Longman.

- 535 WORDSWORTH (William) and COLERIDGE (S. T.) THE MANUSCRIPT FROM WHICH LYRICAL BALLADS, VOL. II, 1800, AND A PORTION OF VOL. I WERE PRINTED, in the handwriting of S. T. Coleridge, W. Wordsworth and Dorothy Wordsworth, about 48 pp. large folio and folio, modern russia, oblong folio

N.B.—The second volume of Lyrical Ballads was first published in 1800 : the first volume was reprinted from the 1798 edition, with the alterations and additions contained in Nos. 1-4 below.

When this edition was printed by Biggs at Bristol, for Messrs. Longman & Rees, the poets were living in the Lake District : consequently, the manuscript is in the form of sixteen letters addressed to the printers.

Mr. Hale White describes these in chronological order : but it seems simpler to take them as they are at present arranged, this being also, in the main, the order in which they were printed in 1800 : however we give also Hale White's number in brackets.

- 1 (H. W. 7) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS. 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  pp. large folio, with a few corrections and additions by Coleridge, Sep. 30, 1800, to Biggs & Cottle : the first portion of the Preface to vol. I, down to "some of the most interesting parts" three lines from the foot of p. XXIII. The text of paragraph 3 p. VI of the Preface is in the original form as given by Mr. T. J. Wise in his Bibliography of Wordsworth, p. 44, from the one cancelled leaf known to survive: the foot-note, with the list of the poems contributed by Coleridge to vol. I, is in Coleridge's writing, and at the close of the letter he has written :

The rest of the preface will be sent off by the next post So the printing may begin immediately.

- 2 (H. W. 8) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS.  $3\frac{3}{4}$  pp. folio, n. d., to the same, containing the close of the Preface, beginning "of his abandoning his old friends," line 5, p. XLIV (the intermediate letter is unfortunately lost), also text for the title (from which, subject to Mr. Longman's consent, it was proposed to omit "Lyrical Ballads." Mr. Longman naturally did not consent) and notes to vol. I. These include a note on the "Ancient Mariner" never reprinted in any subsequent edition.
- 3 (H. W. 15) COLERIDGE (S. T.) and WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS.  $3\frac{3}{4}$  pp. folio, n. d.: Table of Contents and corrections for vol. I
- 4 (H. W. 16) COLERIDGE (S. T.) Auto. MS. 3 pp. folio, n. d. containing the complete text of "Love" and corrections to "The Ancient Mariner"; also to "The Mad Mother" and "Lines written above Tintern Abbey," A MANUSCRIPT OF THE GREATEST LITERARY INTEREST

\* \* \* All these poems were included in vol. I: the text of "Love" is present because it was not printed in Lyrical Ballads, 1798, but appeared for the first time in The Morning Post, Dec. 21, 1799. The corrections to "The Ancient Mariner" occupy more than  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pp. and include one entirely new stanza, the new form of the Argument, several re-written stanzas, and many changes in phraseology or punctuation showing with what care Coleridge revised the poem.

At the close of the letter Coleridge writes:

Directions will be sent by the next post for the second Volume—in the meantime, Mr. Biggs will be pleased to make all convenient Dispatch with the first. He will probably find it advisable to take a printed copy of the Lyrical Ballads, & correct it himself throughout, according to the directions in this & the preceding letters.

[See FRONTISPIECE and ILLUSTRATION.]

- 5 (H. W. 1) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS.  $2\frac{1}{2}$  pp. folio—WORDSWORTH (William) Letter (? A. L. s.)  $\frac{1}{2}$  p. folio, to Mr. Davy (afterwards Sir Humphrey Davy), July 28 [1800]

* * * This MS. includes the poems Hartleap Well, There was a Boy, Ellen Irwin, and part of The Brothers. The letter requests Davy to correct the punctuation of the poems. Mr. Hale White thinks that it is holograph, but considers it just possible that it may have been written and signed by Mary Hutchinson for Wordsworth

- 6 (H. W. 2) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) and COLERIDGE (S. T.) Auto. MS.  $3\frac{1}{2}$  pp. large folio, n. d., containing the conclusion of The Brothers and Strange fits of passion have I known in Dorothy's hand, and She dwelt among the untrodden ways and A slumber did my spirit seal, with directions to the printer, in Coleridge's hand

- 7 (H. W. 3) COLERIDGE (S. T.), with some corrections and additions by W. Wordsworth, Auto. MS. 3½ pp. large folio, Aug. 7, 1800, including The Waterfall and the Eglantine, The Oak and the Broom, The Fly, Lucy Gray, and The Idle Shepherd Boys, and some directions to the printer. "The Fly" is crossed through and Wordsworth notes that it is not to be printed; it was however printed later in the volume (p. 144) from another version, under the heading "Written in Germany"
  - 8 (H. W. 4) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS. 3½ pp. large folio, with corrections by William Wordsworth and possibly by Coleridge, Aug. 16, 1800, including Tis said that some have died for love; Poor Susan; Inscription for the spot where the Hermitage stood on St. Herbert's Island, Derwentwater; Inscription for the House on an Island at Grasmere; Lines written with a slate pencil upon a stone, the first lines crossed through, with a note by Wordsworth that the poem was not to be printed where it stands in the MS. as the first lines were to be altered: it was actually printed later in the volume (p. 117); Andrew Jones; The two thieves; A whirlblast from behind the hill; Song for the Wandering Jew; the first portion of Ruth
  - 9 (H. W. 5) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS. 3½ pp. large folio, with a correction and a note to the printer by William Wordsworth and an exhortation by Coleridge to print the Latin quotation correctly, Aug. 16, 1800, including the conclusion of Ruth, the new opening of Lines written with a slate pencil, etc., the lines headed In the school of — etc., The two April Mornings, The Fountain, Nutting, and Three years she grew in sun and shower
  - 10 (H. W. 6) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) and another, Auto. MS. 2½ pp. large folio, with corrections by William Wordsworth, Sep. 15, 1800, including The Pet Lamb, written in Germany (the Poem previously called The Fly, see ante No. 7), these are in Dorothy Wordsworth's small writing, familiar from the previous letters; The Childless Father and a letter to the printer signed W. Wordsworth are in another larger hand. The letter to the printer relates to Christabel and warns him not to start printing the poem without further instructions from Coleridge.
  - 11 (H. W. 9) WORDSWORTH (Dorothy) Auto. MS. with corrections by William Wordsworth and notes to the printer by Coleridge, in all 3½ pp. folio, n. d. including the conclusion of A Poet's Epitaph, A Character, A Fragment, It was an April Morning, and To Joanna; the advertisement to Poems on the Naming of Places being in Coleridge's hand
- * * * There is a gap in the MS. between 10 and 11: sometime in October, 1800 a letter containing The Old Cumberland Beggar, Rural Architecture, and the first part of The Poet's Epitaph went astray.

- 12 (H. W. 11) COLERIDGE (S. T.) A. L. signed by Wordsworth to the printers, with three poems written out by Dorothy Wordsworth and another, in all  $3\frac{3}{4}$  pp. folio, Dec. 23, 1800

* * * The letter is interesting ; it enquires about the receipt of various MSS., deplores a sad mistake in the Preface—Lucretia for Lucretius, and proceeds to give directions about the alteration in the Preface relating to the poems contributed to Coleridge, which is referred to in No. 1 above. The poems of which the text is sent are There is an Eminence—of these our hills, A narrow girdle of rough stones and crags, and To M. H. (Mary Hutchinson), who was staying at Grasmere at this time and possibly copied out the lines addressed to her.

- 13 (H. W. 12) COLERIDGE (S. T.) Auto. MS.  $2\frac{1}{8}$  pp. large folio, Dec. 23, considered by Mr. Hale White :

One of the most interesting of that series. It is nothing less than Michael down to the line "He was his comfort and his daily hope" copied by Coleridge, but corrected by Wordsworth. The punctuation is not Davy's but Coleridge's, in some cases the corrections are Coleridge's. For instance his pen has altered the line

"He at such admonition of his flock"

"The Shepherd, at such warning of his flock"

as we now have it. Occasionally he has left blank spaces in which there are traces of pencil marks, Wordsworth subsequently filling up the spaces in ink. Thus, after the wonderful passage :

"... He had been alone

Amid the heart of many thousand mists

That came to him and left him on the heights," there is a space of nearly an inch left in which something has been written in pencil and erased, Wordsworth inserting in ink the single line :

"So liv'd he till his eightieth year was pass'd."

Many of the capitals Coleridge used are struck out.

The MS. gives the explanation of the extraordinary omission by the printer of fifteen lines following the line :

"Receiving from his father hire of praise."

These fifteen lines are on a page by themselves and have evidently been overlooked.

- 14 (H. W. 13) HUTCHINSON (Sarah) [?] and COLERIDGE (S. T.) Auto. MS. in all 4 pp. large folio Dec. 23, 1800, containing the conclusion of Michael, and the two Notes to be printed at the end of the second volume, the latter being in Coleridge's hand
- 15 (H. W. 10) WORDSWORTH (William) A. L. s.  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pp. folio, Oct. 10, 1800, to Biggs & Cottle, altering the passage in the Preface relating to the poems contributed by Coleridge (see ante Nos. 1 and 12). The version given here however was not printed ; all these alterations were caused by Coleridge's delays and uncertainties, and chiefly by his incapacity to finish Christabel
- 16 (H. W. 14) Letter,  $1\frac{3}{4}$  pp. folio, Dec. 23, 1800, to Biggs & Cottle. "The handwriting is doubtful and varies" (H. W.); the letter contains an addition to "A narrow girdle," etc. and some corrections to other poems, and enquiries about the sheet containing "The Old Cumberland Beggar"

- 536 WORDSWORTH (WILLIAM) [AND S. T. COLERIDGE] LYRICAL BALLADS with other Poems, FIRST COLLECTED EDITION, 2 vol. (second edition of vol. I and FIRST EDITION of vol. II), *second (and rarer) issue of vol. II with cancel leaf *209-*210 and 27 lines of errata on verso of last leaf, with numerous MS. corrections and additions for the 1802 edition, half red leather, marbled end-papers, t. e. g. For Longman & Rees, 1800*

* * * PROBABLY THE MOST INTERESTING COPY OF THE BOOK IN EXISTENCE. The manuscript material is almost entirely in the handwriting of Dorothy Wordsworth, according to Hale White, though here and there are passages which seem to be in Coleridge's hand. There are several additions to the Preface, though there is no MS. of one long passage inserted in 1802, nor does the "copy" contain the revision of "Ruth"; on the other hand, there are manuscripts of the beautiful lines "I travelled among unknown men," of "Louisa" and directions to the printer for their insertion, though they were not in fact printed till 1807 when some lines were altered. There are also two cancelled passages in the Appendix, never printed except by Hale White, one quoting a contemporary sonnet as an example of misdiction.

[See ILLUSTRATION.]

- 537 WORDSWORTH (WILLIAM) THE MANUSCRIPT FROM WHICH HIS POEMS, 2 vol. 1807, WERE PRINTED, one sheet dated, Nov. 14, 1806, mostly in the handwriting of Sarah Hutchinson, but including also two other hands and here and there Coleridge's and Wordsworth's, about 30 pp. folio and 4to and 129 pp. 8vo, modern russia, 4to

* * * This most interesting manuscript appears to be complete, except for the sonnet "Lady, the songs of spring" (vol. I, p. 121), and contains poems not printed till 1815 and two at least ("The Tinker" and "On seeing some Tourists," etc.) only printed by Hale White. The MS. also contains the earlier version of the first four stanzas of The Ode to Duty as printed by Mr. T. J. Wise in his Bibliography of Wordsworth, pp. 69-71, from the unique cancelled leaves in his copy of the book, and the earlier version—slightly varied—of the opening stanza of "Rob Roy's Grave." But there are many other departures from the printed text, too numerous to mention.

[See ILLUSTRATION.]

- 538 SOUTHEY (ROBERT) Amadis of Gaul, Auto. MS. of this prose translation from the Spanish, published 1803, about 340 pp. 4to, with notes and index
